DETAILED ACTION

Summary

On November 12, 2004, an Office Action was mailed to the Applicant rejecting claims 1-24. On February 3, 2005, the Applicant responded by amending claims 1 and 15 and adding new claims 25-26.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

35 USC 101 requires that in order to be patentable the invention must be a "new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof" (emphasis added).

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to a non-statutory subject matter. Specifically the method claims as presented do not claim a technological basis in the pre-amble and the body of the claim. Without a claimed basis, the claim may be interpreted in an alternative as involving no more than a manipulation of an abstract idea and therefore non-statutory under 35 U.S.C. 101. In contrast, a method claim that includes in the body of the claim structural / functional interrelationship which can only be computer implemented is considered to have a technological basis [See Ex parte Bowman, 61 USPQ2d 1669, 1671 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 2001) - used only for content and reasoning since not precedential].

In order to over come the 101 rejection above, the following preamble is suggested:

-A computer implemented method for ---, or something similar. Also, in the body of the claim include structural / functional interrelationship which can only be computer implemented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Camelio (US 2004/0015427) in view of Andrus (US 2002/0156709), as set forth in the previous Office Action.

With regard to the amendment, Camelio discloses that revenues may be paid via electronic transfer (p.6, 87), which the Examiner is interpreting as being utilized for all participants.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed February 3, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Applicant argues that Camelio does not disclose multiple artists each of whom contributes one or more works of art to a collective fund or distributing revenues based on the collective commercial success of the works of art contributed to the fund separately by all artists. In response, Camelio discloses that multiple artists may participate in the fund (p.6, 87-88); however, the Examiner stated in the last Office Action that Camelio did not disclose sharing the revenues based on the commercial success of the works or art. The Examiner incorporated Andrus as a teaching of issuing an interest to participants of a fund and found it obvious to combine Andrus with Camelio as a teaching of issuing each individual participant a financial interest in the works of art collective fund that may allow for revenues to be shared separately based on commercial success of the fund. A participant in a fund may be any individual, including artists. Therefore, the Examiner is interpreting Camelio and Andrus as reading onto the invention substantially as claimed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
